

Ambulance Service Safety Netting: Can it be improved?

Would you like to contribute to a research study focused on how ambulance staff give advice to patients on their ongoing care when they are either left at home, or referred to another healthcare provider.

This practice is generally referred to as safety netting and I am interested to know the views from patient representatives on how the ambulance service can best safety net the patients who contact the 999 service.

I would like to arrange a discussion group with up to eight participants. The group will be held in Taunton and will take approximately 90 minutes of your time.

If you would like to discuss this research further, or are willing to volunteer to take part then please contact:
